News Release

2008 Business Images of the Alamo Area Magazine Published

Alamo Region, April 24, 2008 – The Alamo Area Council of Governments (AACOG) is pleased to announce the debut of Business Images of the Alamo Area 2008, a spectacular new magazine promoting economic growth and development in the Alamo region.

AACOG and key area businesses will distribute the magazine to prospective new businesses, employees and residents. Copies will also go out to attendees at various trade shows, conferences and events throughout the year.

Business Images of the Alamo Area is part of a complete publishing program that also includes an online edition of the magazine (imagesalamoarea.com), a photographic streaming-video tour of the region, a targeted distribution network and a customer retention and acquisition program.

This unique marketing tool is truly a collaborative effort, and we sincerely thank all of the area businesses that supported the project through advertising. Business Images of the Alamo Area is published annually. For information on how your company or business can be a part of the next edition, please contact our publishing partner, Journal Communications, directly at (800) 333-8842.

We invite you to visit the online magazine and get connected! Enrich your Web site instantly with engaging regional content. Go to imagesalamoarea.com, "Links" and "Link To Us." You are also invited to request a copy of the magazine by calling (210) 362-5204 or e-mailing mail@aacog.com.
